

Shoes

there's nothing holding them together, yet
rarely ever they're
a-part;
tongues are always sticking out
—half in humor, half in heat—
they tiptoe side by side
in pants,
—all directions left to chance—
the ties they bear are tight&strong
(for max support)
(and get-along)

comfort insoles
love and smother:
when one moves the other
moves the other moves
the other—

their soles are mates;
key attach,

—a perfect, perfect, perfect match.
